Ohio.

More women than men were present at the dinner, for the first time in the chamber of commerce history. Nearly 100 persons were present and that the impression made by Mr. Beliamy's talk was deep wan evidenced by the fact that at its conclusion president Robert Krakauer said the chamber of commerce is now willing to lend its name and as much financial aid as possible to social welfare work.

The dinner was held at the Hotel Pago del Norte. Good music was one of the features. Quartet numbers by Parvin Witte. Mrs. W. D. Howe, Mrs. A. B. Goldstein and Louis Coggeshall, and solos by Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Goldstein made up the program. Mrs. James G. McNary was at the plane.

Robert Erakauser presided at the chamber of commerce, presided at the banquet. At its conclusion he introduced Miss Alice Fitzpatrick, whom he described as one qualified to speak on social weifers and public recreation work. Although it was Miss Fitzpatrick's first public speech, her delivery was no clear and her thoughts so well expressed, few realized she was making a debut in the public speaking field.

Miss Fitzpatrick said: "Terry, Pat and Mike went to war. Puring a battle Terry's arm was shot off. Running to Pat he cried: "O, Pat, of've had me ar-rm shot off!" Pat looked at him in disgust.

"Why Not Pinyground Bonds?
"Why could not El Paso issue playground bonds and sell them in small denominations to the people of the city, thus keeping the interest money at home? All the children of all the people must play, so both north and south sides of the city should have south sides of the city should have playgrounds.

"As to possible sites in our city for large general playgrounds, on the north side, where the mesa drops into the small foothills, there is an ideal space, fashioned as an amphitheater, containing about five acres. It is as close in a large space as could be obtained now, could be safely reached from any point on the north side, and has great natural possibilities for beauty and attractive arrangement of play spaces, and will never be any beauty and attractive arrangement of play spaces, and will never be any cheaper than now.

"On the south side Washington park presents itself, also, when the canal is finished and the banks ready to park, at intervals play apparatus could be placed, thus making a continuous playground for over one mile. A protective railing would have to be provided against the falling into the canal, if we would not have the unwashed, washed.

"As to the small play spaces through-

"As to the small play spaces through-out the city, these, I believe, could be obtained at once, with no other exobtained at once, with no other exponse than cleaning and providing the play apparatus. Owners of vacant lots would no doubt be willing to lend these lots for play purposes until such time as they were ready to build. These lots, cleared of trash, leveled, and with happy children playing on them, would be much more attractive than they now are.

"This vacant lot idea seems to me the most feasible proposition for immediate consideration.

Utilizing School Grounds "As to placing play apparatus, such as slides, swings, see-saws, on school grounds, this could be done, provided the school ground was large enough to place such apparatus without interfering with the open spaces used for to place such apparatus without interfering with the open spaces used for the cooperative group games, such as basehall, football, etc., for the cooperative group games are of infinitely greater value in the development of the child than mere play apparatus which touches the physical only. If you obstruct spaces for these games
you take away the very life of the boy over 12 years of age.
"So we must not lose sight of the most valuable play and the greatest good to the greatest number, in our desire to plan play apparatus. Few of IT Paso's school grounds are large enough for both play apparatus and space for the cooperative group games.
Should Have Public Playgrounds

Should Have Public Playgrounds "El Paso should establish public playgrounds where her children could have proper play facilities. The hope playgrounds where her children could have proper play facilities. The hope of the world is forever with its children, and when a community acts for their welfare, it is safe, no matter what its other problems may be. Children must play, and if God gave the instinct for play, can not man out of the abundance of land God has given give the place to play it."

"That the playground movement may go forward, a permanent association should be organized and we need the help of the men. We women can talk playgrounds, but when it comes to really doing things, we need the men awfully bad."

really doing things, we need the men awfully bad."

When Miss Fitzpatrick had finished, the applause was generous. President Krakauer complimented her for the small denomination boad idea and suggested that she write out a copy of her talk and mail it to mayor Kelly, now at the cattlemen's convention in Oklahome City.

Rabbi Martin Zielonka Speaks.
Rabbi Martin Zielonka was the next speaker. He said in part: "It is a good omen to hear the president of the chamber of commerce speak of social welfare work. I believe it is the duty of the chamber of commerce to enter into this field as well as the material one. El Paso is advancing rapidly and we need social welfare work here. But it must be fostered by the business men of the community. We send out literature advertising how many electric lights El Paso has, how her streets are paved, how low the taxes are, and all that, but how much better results is would bring if we could add to that, proof of the fact that El Paso is a good place in which to rear a family. "Every great problem comes eventually into the field of pellices, and the old cry that "This will lead you into politics should not frighten the chamber of commerce from its duty in the social uplift work. Unless we are willing to enter politics, if need be, we will never get anywhere. I am glad that the chamber of commerce is prepared to take up this work. I hope that within a year we can igvite Mr. Bellamy back here to dedicate the first public playground. As a cloning remark I want to say that, as this social uplift work advances, I hope we will sending remark I want to say that, as this social uplift work advances, I hope we will gradually realize that the chamber of commerce is ready to help any movement that will benefit the welfare of El Paso and her people, especially from the human side."

Mr. Bellamy's address followed the brief talk made by Rabbi Zielonka. The playground and recreation expert is a forceful speaker. The interest he feela in his work communicates itself to his hearers through the power of his words and the sincerity of his delivery. His speech, in part, follows:

"I want to express my appreciation for your hospitality to Mrs. Bellamy and myself today and I wish all prosperity to you in this new movement. When men and women begin to think along the lines which you are thinking, tonight you will soon have a good place in which to rear a family. The city's future depends upon the child and the character of the child is formed while he is at play. We spend millions of dollars improving the physical properties of the city, but take little account of the human side.

hand where his fellows are congregated he takes to the street.

Normal Child Requires Play.

"You cannot keep a normal child from a certain amount of play except at the expense of his natural development. If curbed at one point he breaks out at another. If curbed altogether, he becomes ill tempered, sulting discontented, or physically lnactive which is harmful to his health. This energy must have a proper vent or else it works harm to him.

"Suitable places should be provided for children to play in, where they can find proper play activities, and sultiable places are not available in a city unless specially provided, and these places should be not for children only, but for grownips as well.

"I am well aware that there is no money for the purchase of playground sites, but let's get some.

Why Not Playground Bonds?

"Why could not El Paso issue playground denominations to the people of the clivide and the future of the clivide and short the children absorb these harmful thoughts.

GIRL LEFT IN SLEIGH IS FROZEN TO DEATH

Harelton, Fa., March 3.—While her companion, James Bartholdi, went for aid, Ella Sweeney, 21 years old, was frozen to death in a steigh Sunday night. Her body was found Monday. The young woman had become terror stricken over the raging storm. Bartholdi stopped the horse within 200 yards of shelter and tramped two miles over the mountains for assistance. He was not permitted to make the re-turne trip because of his exhausted condition.
